To Whom it May Concern,

I am happy to extend a recommendation for Li Laing as a qualified English language teacher.

Li completed our accredited 120-hour TESOL/TEFL course, which covers training for all of the essential topics needed to teach the English language both in a classroom and online setting.

This course has been accredited by ACCREDITAT, a leading independent accreditation body established over two decades ago, and the CPD Certification Service, a British accreditation body established in 1996 to oversee professional development courses. After excelling with the course and successfully passing all of its assessments, Li has now earned a dual-accredited TESOL/TEFL certificate.

I have great confidence in Li as a valuable asset to a wide variety of teaching environments, and would be happy to extend this endorsement. If you have any questions you're welcome to contact me through the email address found at the bottom of this letter.
